DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

1. Claims 4,5, and 6 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. Where applicant acts as his or her own lexicographer to specifically define a term of a claim contrary to its ordinary meaning, the written description must clearly redefine the claim term and set forth the uncommon definition so as to put one reasonably skilled in the art on notice that the applicant intended to so redefine that claim term. Process Control Corp. v. HydReclaim Corp., 190 F.3d 1350, 1357, 52 USPQ2d 1029, 1033 (Fed. Cir. 1999). The term “pedestal keel” and “pedestal tongues” in claims 4,5, and 6 are used by the claim to mean “a cantilever on which the bracket rests”, while the accepted meaning for pedestal is “the support or foot of a late classic or neoclassic column or the base of an upright structure” and keel meaning “the chief structural member of a boat or ship that extends longitudinally along the center of its bottom and that often projects from the bottom.” The term is indefinite because the specification does not clearly redefine the term.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1 and 2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being by anticipated by Griggs. It is noted that the applicant has set forth the subcombination of a tool for securing a bracket and but refers to the combination of a tool and a bracket. These claims are being treated as the subcombination.

Griggs discloses a tool capable of securing a bracket, the tool comprising:

- (a) a tool body (figures 1-4);
- (b) legs rigidly connected to said body and extending upward from said body (side elements 6 and 7; column 1, lines 55-58);
- (c) means for holding a bracket having a heel and two upright members when inserted between said legs (connector member or bar 2);
- (d) a handle extending downward from said body (1).

1. Regarding claim 2 Griggs discloses a tool wherein said handle extends downward and outward at an angle from said body (figures 1-4).

Art Unit: 3654

2. Claim 1 and 4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being by anticipated by Kellenbarger. Kellenbarger discloses a tool capable of securing a bracket, the tool comprising:

- (a) a tool body (1);
- (b) legs rigidly connected to said body and extending upward from said body (4);
- (c) means for holding a bracket having a heel and two upright members when inserted between said legs (3);
- (d) a handle extending downward from said body (2).

3. Regarding claim 4 Kellenbarger discloses a means for inserting a bracket between the legs of the tool including a wedge-shaped shaped projection (7) extending outward from said body (3).

4. Claim 1 and 8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being by anticipated by Holst. Holst discloses a tool capable of securing a bracket, the tool comprising:

- (a) a tool body (10);
- (b) legs rigidly connected to said body and extending upward from said body (16);
- (c) means for holding a bracket having a heel and two upright members when inserted between said legs (14);
- (d) a handle extending downward from said body (11).

5. Regarding claim 8 Holst discloses a utility aperture or eyelet 12 within the handle.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. Claim 3 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Griggs in view of Brodeur. Griggs meets all of the limitations of claim 1 but does not teach a ribbed handle. Brodeur discloses a joist hanger mounting tool with ribbed handle 10. Griggs and Brodeur are analogous art because they are both tools capable of securing a bracket. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to make the handle of Griggs ribbed so that the handle could more easily be grasped without slippage.

7. Claim 7 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Griggs in view of what is old and well known. Griggs meets all of the limitations of claim 1 but does not teach a plastic tool. Plastic tools are old and well known in the subject matter area of the invention. It would have been obvious to make the out of plastic since tools made of plastic are of lighter weight.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claim 5 and 6 would be allowable if rewritten to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, 2nd paragraph, set forth in this Office action and to include all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. US-761136, US-4181295, US-2197278, US-202540.US-5383320, US-6272951 B1, US-2544492, Des. 336231.
